

Digital Technology Project

- In the first line type a name of an electronic device you might or have purchased on-line
- In the first column type different types of marketing promotions. For example, radio promotions, television commercials, bill boards, internet locations-be specific.
- In the second column what kind of technology would be used for that type of marketing promotions?